Children like Me Sy.

Me Sy lives in Kam, a small rural village in northeastern Cambodia. His parents are farmers and they go to work in the fields every day. Although they leave home in the early morning and get back in the evening, they encourage Me Sy, to go to school every day. He shared:

"Going to school is my favourite part of the day. In school, the teachers are really good. During breaktime, my friends and I play football and volleyball in the playground. I also spend time reading story books in the school library."

"I want to be a teacher, to share my knowledge with the next generation"
